LILY, A BASSET HOUND'S TAIL OF LOVE

AUTHOR AND HER HOUNDS' PROFILE

Cathy L. Rudert is the author of Lily - A Basset Hound's Tail of Love. She is the founder of Basset Hound Town Publishing and owner of Bassethoundtown.com. Cathy is currently working on her next children's picture book where she brings fairies and basset hounds together for an enchanting project.

She lives in Kentucky with her two basset hounds, Chaps and Emma, the stars of her next book. Chaps and Emma are of BoBac Bassets, an AKC Basset Hound Club of America reputable breeder in Roanoke, Texas.

Cathy is actively involved in basset hound rescue at the national level. She rescued Natalie, her first basset, from the pound, Chloé from a puppy mill and Lily from the streets. Hounds in these types of situations truly do depend on the kindness of strangers. When Cathy wrote this book, she did not intend for it to be an avenue of making money for rescues, but now sees it as a perfect fit. In the first published year of the Lily book, Cathy donated approximately 300 books to basset hound rescues. She has many goals for her publishing company. One major goal is to be known for helping needy basset hounds. As time goes on she hopes to devote more and more to this cause that she cherishes.

Please visit bassethoundtown.com where all dogs are welcome, but basset hounds run the town!
